Valuable Real estate for Sale.

PURSUANT to the last Will and Testament of the late Col. RICHARD BROWN, deceased

I NOW OFFER FOR SALE,

The Farm on which he resided,

On the Ohio River, in Holliday's Cove, in Brook County, Virginia.

This Estate consists of about 700 Acres of Land, 250 of which is a rich Island, the remainder principally second bottom and upland; that part of the upland which is not tillable, is covered with timber suitable for furnishing the Island and tillable part with fencing and building timber. There is between 150 and 200 acres cleared and under cultivation, a suitable proportion of which in good meadow land. The buildings consist in two log dwelling houses and a log barn with under story of stone. It is well supplied with very fine springs of good water.

The situation of this property on the Ohio River, five miles from the flourishing Town of Steubenville, and in the neighbourhood of several Merchant Mills, Iron Works, &c. renders it a desirable object to a person who would wish to farm extensively, as he would probably at all times find a good market at his door for the produce of his farm. A part of the purchase will be required in hand, and for the remainder a reasonable credit will be given.

Sheick Ali.

A man arrived and took up his lodging with our guards—he was about six feet in height, and proportionably stout; his colour was something between that of a Negro and an Arab; when he came in he was saluted by Seid, and the others in company by the name of Sheick Ali, (or Ali the chief.) This man possessed talents of that superior cast which never fail to command the greatest respect, and at the same time to inspire dread, awe and reverence. He appeared to be only a guest or visitor.—— In his deportment he was grave and dignified: he raised his voice on occasions terribly, and spoke in tones almost of thunder; yet when he wished to please by condescension and courtesy, it thrilled on the ear like sounds of softest music; his manner and air were very commanding, and his whole aspect and demeanour bore the stamp of the most daring courage and unflinching firmness. He was the most eloquent man I had ever heard speak; persuasion dwelt upon his tongue; while he spoke, all the company observed the most profound silence, and with open mouths seemed to inhale his honied sentences. He pronounced with the most perfect emphasis; the elegant cadence so much admired in eastern oratory seemed to have acquired new beauties from his manner of delivery; his articulation was so clear and distinct, & his countenance and actions so intelligent and expressive, that I could understand him perfectly, though he spoke in the Arabic language. He would settle all controverted points among the disputants when applied to, in an instant, and yet with the utmost gracefulness and dignity. Every thing that this man said seemed to carry with it a weight that bore down all opposition.—Nais informed me that all he knew about him he had learned from Sidi Mohammed which was, that he is the chief of a very large and powerful tribe of Arabs, who inhabit the hills south of us, and near the borders of the great desart; that Sidi Hamet had married one of his daughters, but had since been at war with him, and hat in the contest his father in-law had destroyed Sidi Hamet's town, and taken back his daughter, but afterwards restored her again on making peace; that this Sheick could bring ten or fifteen thousand men into the field whenever he pleased, and that he was a man of the greatest talents and capacity in war, as well as in peace.

DISEASED IMAGINATION.

The power of a diseased imagination, over the body, or as it is scientifically called hallucination, was never perhaps more strongly verified than in the case of that dissolute young nobleman, and extraordinary genuis, the younger Littleton. The story is well known to most of our readers. He one night saw in a dream a young lady, who told him that on a certain Saturday evening at 10 o'clock, he certainly would die; this he related to some of his intimate acquaintance, and invited a number of them to pass the evening with him and witness the falsehood of the prediction. They did so: the evening came, he endeavoured to make merry as the hour approached, but it had fastened on his imagination with a firmer hold than he was aware of; just before 10, he complained of being indisposed, proposed to retire, and died in the act of getting into bed. A clergyman who then lived near Hagley, told the writer of this, that Doctor Johnson, of whom Littleton speaks in very high terms in one of his letters, as a physician in his neighbourhood told him, that had he been sent for in season, he could have saved him. The Quarterly Review of last November, contains the following striking instance. N. Y. E. Post.

"One of the most striking instances of the amazing influence which the imagination possesses, not over the feelings merely, but upon the actual state and functions of the bodily organization, is related by professor Hufeland; this case is so interesting, and we may add, so instructive, that we are tempted, notwithstanding its length, to lay it before our readers.

"A student at Jena, about 16 years of age, having a weak and irritable nervous frame, but in other respects healthy, left his apartments during twilight, and suddenly returned with a pale, dismal countenance, assuring his companion that he was doomed to die in thirty-six hours, or at nine o'clock in the morning of the second day.—This sudden change, of a cheerful young mind, naturally alarmed his friend; but no explanation was given of its cause. Every attempt at ridiculing this whimsical notion was fruitless; and he persisted in affirming that his death was certain and inevitable. A numerous circle of his fellow students soon assembled, with a view to dispel those gloomy ideas, and to convince him of his folly, by arguments satire and mirth. He remained, however, unshaken in his strange conviction; being apparently inanimate in their company, and expressed his indignation at the frolicks and witticisms applied to his peculiar situation. Nevertheless, it was conjectured that a calm repose during the night would produce a more favourable change in his fancy; but sleep was banished, and the approaching dissolution engrossed his attention during the nocturnal hours. Early next morning, he sent for professor Hufeland, who found him employed in making arrangements for his burial; taking an affectionate leave of his friends; and on the point of concluding a letter to his father; in which he announced the fatal catastrophe that was speedily to happen. After examining his condition of mind and body, the professor could discover no remarkable deviation from his usual state of health excepting a small contracted pulse, a pale countenance, dull and drowsy eyes, and cold extremities: these symptoms, however, sufficiently indicated a general spasmodick action of the nervous system, which also exerted its influence over the mental faculties. The most serious reasoning on the subject, and all the philosophical and medical eloquence of Dr. Hufeland, had not the desired effect; and though the student admitted that there might be no ostensible cause of death discoverable, yet this very circumstance was peculiar to his case; and such was his inexorable destiny, that he must die the next morning, without any visible morbid symptoms. In this dilemma, Dr. Hufeland proposed to treat him as a patient. Politeness induced the latter to accept of such an offer, but he assured the physician, that medicines would not operate. As no time was to be lost, there being only 24 hours left for his life, Dr. Hufeland deemed proper to direct such remedies as prove powerful excitants, in order to rouse the vital energy of his pupil, and to relieve him from his captivated fancy,—Hence he prescribed a strong emetick and purgative; ordered blisters to be applied to both calves of the legs, and at the same time stimulating clysters to be administered. Quietly submitting to the doctor's treatment, he observed, that his body being already half a corpse, all means of recovering it would be in vain.——Dr. Hufeland was not a little surprised, on his repeating his visit in the evening to learn that the emetick had but very little operated, and that the blisters had not even reddened the skin.—The case became more serious; and the supposed victim of death began to triumph over the incredulity of the professor and his friends. Thus circumstanced, Dr. Hufeland perceived, how deeply and destructively that mental spasm must have acted on the body, to produce a degree of insensibility from which, the worst consequences might be apprehended. All the inquiries into the origin of this singular belief had hitherto been unsuccessful. Now only, he disclosed the secret to one of his intimate friends, namely, that on the preceeding evening he had met with a white figure in the passage, which nodded to him, and in the same moment, he heard a voice exclaiming—"The day after to-morrow, at nine o'clock in the morning, thou shalt die!"—He continued to settle his domestick affairs; made his will; minutely appointed his funeral; and even desired his friends to send a clergyman:—which request, however, was counteracted.—Night appeared—and he began to compute the hours he had to live, till the ominous next morning. His anxiety evidently increased with the striking of every clock within hearing. Dr. Hufeland was not without apprehension, when he recollected instances in which mere imagination had produced melancholy effects—but, as every thing depended on procrastinating, or retarding that hour in which the event was predicted; and on appeasing the tempest of a perturbed imagination, till reason had again obtained the ascendancy, he resolved upon the following expedient: Having a complaisant patient, who refused not to take the remedies prescribed for him (because he seemed conscious of the superiour agency of his mind over that of the body) Dr. Hufeland had recourse to laudanum, combined with the extract of hen-bane: twenty drops of the former, and two grains of the latter, were given to the youth with such effect, that he fell into a profound sleep, from which he did not awake till eleven o'clock on the next morning.—Thus the prognosticated fatal hour elapsed, and his friends waiting to welcome the bashful patient, who had agreeably disappointed them, turned the whole affair into ridicule.—The first question however, after recovering from this artificial sleep, was—"What is the hour of the morning?"—On being informed that his presages had not been verified by experience, he assured the company that all these transactions appeared but a dream. After that time he long enjoyed a good state of health, and was completely cured of a morbid imagination."

"Had this youth fallen into less sagacious hands, the event would, it is more than probable, have answered to the prediction; and the occurrence would have stood as irrefragable evidence of that creed which imagines that the times have not long since passed of individual and immediate communication between the world of sense and the world of spirit. How the fancy originated, it is difficult to say: but it is not less difficult to explain the phenomena of dreams."

From the Salem Register, June 21.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE ORONOKO.

By the brig Augusta, Lee, which arrived yesterday from Augostura,* which place she left on the 20th May, we have the following interesting intelligence:—

That on the 10th of March, the royalists, about 2000 strong, under Morales, who had proceeded from Augostura, to attack the patriots at a place called the Missions, 100 miles below Augostura, were totally defeated and cut to pieces, only six men escaped, including Morales, and 2 other officers. All who were not killed on the field of battle were afterwards shot, and among them, Sheruty, formerly Governor of Augostura.

After the battle, the patriots under Gen. Piar, approached Augostura, where they threw up a breastwork, upon which the guns of the fort could not be brought to bear, and immediately commenced firing upon the town within half musket shot, and the firing had been continued day and night. They had made several attacks upon the place, but without great loss on either side. One of the officers had gone for cannon, more effectually to attack the works.

The patriots had completely surrounded the place and the inhabitants and garrison were reduced to the most wretched and pitiable condition for want of provisions. Great numbers had actually died of starvation. Horses, mules, jackasses, dogs, &c. had been consumed, and the Governor himself had actually paid 3 dollars for a Cat!

A great number of the inhabitants had left Augostura, and fifteen hundred, principally women and children in the most pitiable condition, sailed the same day the Augusta left, in Spanish vessels. The men were not allowed to depart. Our informant thinks it impossible that the place could have held out more than two or three days after he left, unless relieved in some unexpected manner.

Guayanna was still in possession of the Royalists—it was strongly fortified, and no probability of its being taken except by starvation.

Fitzgerald, the Governor of Augostura, who had been arrested and sent to Carraccas, on suspicion of treachery, had been ordered back, and was still in command of the place. The most sanguinary measures were adopted at Augostura in regard to suspected persons. Eight men were shot at one time about the first of May, on suspicion of being friendly to the revolutionary cause.

The forces of the patriots were estimated at from four to six thousand men, all mounted, and they had complete possession of the surrounding country

[*AUGOSTURA, a city in South America, nearly 400 miles up the river Oronoko. It is the only port of entry on the river. It stands on a high point of land and commands a beautiful and extensive prospect of the river and country. The place contains about 1000 houses, built of stone. [Morse' Gaz.]

LAW CASE.

Lincoln.—At these assizes, in an action Wright vs. Jessop, the plaintiff, an apothecary of Bottlesford, sought to recover from defendant, a bachelor of opulence, residing near Lincoln, 787*l* 18*s* for medicine and attendance, during 25 years. By statement of plaintiff's counsel, it appeared that the defendant was of a hypochondriacal turn, and had taken pills for a great number of years; he used to have from 600 to 2000 pills sent him at a time—and in one year he took 51,000! being at the rate of 150 a day. There were thousands of bottles of mixtures. From the ravenous propensity of the patient for physic, it was necessary to call in two physicians, who inquiring of the defendant what was the course of medicine and nourishment he pursued through the day, answered as follows:—"At half past two o'clock in the morning, I take two spoonfulls and a half of Jalop, and then a quantity of electary—then I sleep till six and repeat the dose of both Jalop and electary—at 9 o'clock, I take 14 pills of No 9 and 14 pills of No 10, to whet my appetite for breakfast—at breakfast, I eat a dish of milk—at eleven, I have an acid and alkali mixture—afterwards have a bolus—at nine at night I have an anodyne mixture and go to sleep." After some progress had been made in the evidence, a compromise took place, the plaintiff accepting a verdict for 450*l*.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, JULY 8, 1817.

Fourth of July.

The return of the natal day of our Independence has again awakened the sounds of festivity, and called us from the business of the present hour to the contemplation of years that are past. The reflections that naturally recur to us on this day are such as we may proudly and honestly indulge in—it is a day that calls a blush to no man's cheek, a cloud to no man's brow. It is a singular happiness that the war which established our independence has left no stain upon our national character—there was but little of that ferocity that generally accompanies a civil war—there was no wanton effusion of blood—no insolent abuse of power—but brave in fight and modest in victory, our gallant ancestors gained for their country an honest fame which it is the duty to cherish and preserve. When we look back to such days our hearts are softened—they glow with grateful enthusiasm.

Whether the principles of those times have been preserved or have been corrupted and sacrificed it is not the business of this day to inquire. It is the hallowed 'festival of liberty, and should never be profaned by the hoarse clamour of contending parties. It is a day peculiarly blessed, and set apart, for the commemoration of the valour and wisdom of our fathers, and not of the folly or corruption of their sons. As such let it ever be preserved—let not the morning sun of that day ever find us in enmity, or its evening beams leave us in bitterness; but may it ever find us reclined at ease in the bowers of peace, surrounded by cheerfulness and plenty, and cheered by the song of hilarity, or the voice of praise and gratulation.

The Naval Court Martial, lately held at the Navy-Yard, in Charleston, of which Captain HULL was president, has found JOHN S. PAGE, Second Lieutenant of Marines, guilty of the charges and specifications preferred against him by WM. H. ALLEMAN, First Lieutenant in the same corps.

The sentence, which is ratified at Washington, CASHIERS the prisoner, and renders him incapable of ever serving as an Officer in the ARMY OR NAVY; it also declares his pay and rations, now due, to be forfeit.

Wilkinson's Memoirs.—In page 788, in speaking of Mr. Madison's behavior at the battle of Bladensburgh the general says—"and at the very first shot, the trembling coward with a faultering voice exclaimed, Come General Armstrong, Come Colonel Monroe, let us go, and leave it to the commanding General—and in place of seeking death in a blaze of imperishable glory, he ignominiously turned his back upon the enemy, and upon his country, and in the face of the whole army, was the first man to give the dastardly example of flight."

Manuel Lisa Esq. arrived here yesterday from Fort Lisa, 45 miles above the mouth of the river Platt, on the Missouri with a valuable cargo of furs and peltries, said to be worth 35,000 dollars. We learn that the Indians generally are at war with one another. No accident happened to Mr. M's party except in one instance. A party of Sioux, (thought to be a war party) met a few of the laborers three miles from the fort, and shot through the body with an arrow, Pedro Antonio, a Spaniard. The Indians might have cut off the whole party if they were inclined to farther mischief.

Expensive Royal Entertainment.—A London paper states, on the authority of the official report, that the expenses of the public entertainment, given by the Corporation of the city of London, to the Prince Regent, the Emperor of Russia, the King of Prussia, and the Duke of Wellington, amounted to the sum of twenty four thousand pounds sterling—equal to one hundred and six thousand, five hundred and sixty dollars.

We are enabled to state, on authority entitled to the fullest credit that the general government are desirous of negociating with the Cherokees, an exchange of lands on White river, for all the territory claimed by that tribe within the limits of Georgia and Tennessee; and that gen Jackson and gov. M'Minn of this state, and general Merewether of Georgia, have been appointed Commissioners to effect the exchange by treaty.—[Knoxville paper.

The snowy mountains of Thibet, in the East Indies, which were, until lately, supposed to be inaccessible, have been crossed by capt. Webb, and their height ascertained, which proved to be 28,000 feet above the level of the sea. This is more than 7000 feet higher than the highest point of the Andes, which have heretofore been considered the loftiest mountains on the globe.

The Government of the United States has purchased of RICHARD HARTSHORNE, Esq. what is commonly called Sandy Hook a very large and valuable peninsula, extending from the Portland Highlands to the sea, a distance of seven miles. On this large tract of land there is a considerable quantity of valuable cedar, which, in time, must become useful in ship building. The sum paid, we understand, was $20,000

LONDON, April 25.

Sickness in Italy.—Extract of a letter from Milan, to a gentleman in Edinburgh, dated March 21,—"A contagious fever, called febra apophetticha, has been making great devastation here, and also in Pavia, Gravilini and Ovei,—In one street there were 375 persons died in the course of 24 hours; but the disease is now somewhat abated, and deaths are reduced from 60 to 25 a day in one street. When persons are seized with the disorder, it carries them off in two days, and after death, the bodies are quite black. It is supposed to have arisen from the bad living of the lower class of the people, who are almost starving in consequence of the dearth of provisions.—One sack of wheat (of eight bushels) which formerly sold at from 25 to 30 livres, is now sold at 95 livers, and potatoes are 4d per pound. There has been but little wine made, and what is made is like vinegar. Such an accumulation of misery was never known before in this quarter. The weather is cold here, the wind north easterly, and very dry; but in the low country, the weather has been fine, and the country is looking beautiful."

Valuable Property
TO BE LEASED.

THREE LOTS, each seventeen feet and a half in front, sixty feet in depth, together with the buildings or parts of buildings thereon, will be offered for perpetual lease, at the auction room of D. S Scully, on Thursday the 24th day of July next, at ten o'clock, A. M. These lots being part of the estate of H. H. Brackenridge, deceased, and situate in Market, between Front and Second streets, are well known as being among the best situations in Pittsburgh, for business. The conditions of sale will be made known at the day, and in the mean time any information thereof, can be had of

A. BRACKENRIDGE.

Pittsburgh, July 8th, 1817.

PITTSBURGH STEAM
Woollen Manufactory.

JAMES ARTHURS, respectfully informs the public, that his manufactory is in complete operation, where they may at all times be supplied with the following domestic cloths, viz.

Superfine Broad Cloths,
Cassimeres,
Kerseynetts, &c,

of different qualities and a variety of colours.

Having taken into partnership, an experienced workman from Europe, in the manufactory of cloth, his friends may rest assured, that all orders in any branch of their business, will be filled to their entire satisfaction.

Persons wishing to have wool manufactured into broad or narrow cloth, may have it done reasonably, in the best manner, and at the shortest notice; but no less quantity than 25 pounds will be received for that purpose.

A large quantity of country cloth, being now finished the owners are requested to take it away, as the proprietor cannot hold himself responsible for its safety from moths during the warm season.

His machinery for carding wool is in complete order; and whilst he returns his thanks for the very liberal patronage he has received in this branch of his business, he requests a continuance.

☞ Those persons who are indebted longer than three months, either by bill, note, or book account, are requested to come forward and pay on or before the 1st day of August next. It is hoped this notice will be attended to, or the next will be of a more coercive nature.

July 8th 1817.

Education.

THE subscribers beg leave to return their friends and the public unfeigned thanks for the liberal patronage and encouragement they have hitherto met, and hope by assiduity and attention to the morals and literary improvement of their pupils to merit future countenance and support.

They still occupy that large house in Fourth opposite Ferry street, (formerly the morrocco factory of Scully & Graham) which they have fitted up in the most commodious manner for the reception of scholars, where they continue to teach reading, writing, english grammar, history, geography, arithmetic, book-keeping, and the practical branches of mathematics.

APPROVED
Patent and Family
MEDICINES,
FOR SALE BY
J. W. SKELTON,
Pittsburgh Apothecary Hall,
Corner of Third and Wood streets
AND SKELTON AND HILL,
Market street, near the Diamond,
PITTSBURGH.

Doctor Bossy's
Celebrated Elixir of Health.

A medicine, possessing extraordinary powers in arresting the progress, and effectually curing consumption, with all its train of distressing symptoms—a disease which from its frequency, and difficulty of cure within the last three or four years, seems to threaten destruction to a great portion of our population. The author of this medicine is an aged german physician, of great celebrity and acknowledged talents, (residing in the city of London) whose wonderful success in the cure of consumption, has sounded forth his name to the utmost extent of Great Britain.

It is hoped and expected so great a blessing will not long remain untried by the inhabitants of America, whose diseased lungs, with teazing cough, loss of appetite, decay of strength, loss of flesh, pain in the chest, and depression of spirits, warns them of approaching dissolution.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

Not to try the means which Providence has placed within our reach, is little less than being our own executioners. It is therefore the duty of every afflicted mortal to seek a remedy in time.

While there is life there is hope!
To-morrow may come too late!!

Dr. Bossy's
Hysteric Drops.

A medicine, which has been for many years used with great success, both in Europe and America, speedily removing the most violent fits of Hysterics, like a charm.

Dr. Bossy's Lotion,
For burns and scalds.

Slight burns and scalds, if taken immediately will in general be cured by this Liniment. In case of a fever intervening, Epsom salts taken in small quantities, will assist the cure.

When the mischief is extensive or deep, mortification may be apprehended, whether the subject be young or old; the advice therefore of a skilful physician or surgeon, should be procured without delay.

Dr. Bossy's Embrocation,
For bruises, strains, inflammations, rheumatism, &c.

A medicine in every respect superior to the common Steer's Opodeldoc, (so universally used) No medicine ever sold has a greater claim on the public than the one now offered; it being a useful external application for sprains, bruises, chilblains, and for dispersing inflammatory tumours, rheumatism, burns scalds, &c.

Dr. Bossy's India Oil,

This celebrated Oil, the production of the East Indies, was first discovered by that great, and much celebrated physician of the East Indies, Fo Chi, whose great medical information, has reached the most remote parts of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, and the United States.

Thousands of empyrics and quacks, are daily offering to the world the most deadly poisons, such as Arsenic, muriate of Mercury, Cicuta, &c. in the form of plaisters, Tinctures, Solutions, Pills, &c. thereby destroying the lives of hundreds and thousands of the community.

Infallible Remedy
For destroying Bugs in bedsteads, furniture &c.

This mixture will infallibly destroy them and their nits, though they swarm ever so much. It is necessary that the bed or furniture should be thoroughly wet with it, the dust being first shaken off, which will prevent the mixture staining in the least, or soiling even the richest silks, &c. Should any bugs appear after once using this mixture it will be only owing to not having well wetted the linen &c. of the bed with it. So that those parts being well wetted with the liquid, which dries as fast as it is used, and pouring in the joints and holes, where the sponge or brush cannot reach, they never fail of being all destroyed.

N. B. It is necessary that the mixture should be well shaken together before it is used.

Doctor Velnos'
TURKISH GLUE or ARMENIAN CEMENT,
For mending China, glass, &c.

A discovery of first magnitude in domestic economy. Thousands of articles, many of the most useful are daily committed to the street &c for the want of some suitable Cement, to mend them. The one now offered has proved by experience, to answer the purpose, and will even join glass or china, so strong that it will often break in a fresh place.

Balsamic Aromatic Tincture,
Or the grand corrector of flatulence and acidity in the bowels of children.

A medicine so well calculated to relieve the bowel complaint of infant children, (as it is so emphatically called by nurses) that it needs only the trial of a single bottle, to recommend it to the attention of a family.

To alleviate the sufferings of infant children, has called forth the talents of the most eminent physicians of every age, and the want of success appears chiefly to arise from the deeply rooted prejudices of parents and nurses, which the healing art has had to contend with. In this enlightened age much has been done towards banishing ancient prejudices, and we now find children taking food and physic, on much more rational principles than formerly. It is a fact clearly ascertained, that most of the diseases incident to children, do arise from bad management, want of cleanliness, and indigestible food. The medicine here recommended is known in Europe the last twenty years to have been the favorite remedy with the most celebrated and eminent physicians, for correcting acidity, promoting the digestive powers, warming and invigorating the stomach, and giving immediate ease in the most excruciating pains of the bowels.

The dose to a child a month old is sixty drops—three months old, eighty drops—six months old a tea spoonfull; after which, thirty drops may be added for every year of their age.

The mixture to be well shaken, and mixed with barley water, balm or mint tea, or cold water, and repeated every sixth hour till ease is procured.

Velno's Vegetable Ointment,
For the cure of the Rheumatism

Perhaps no country in the world is so subject to Rheumatism, as the United States of America. The most learned of the medical faculty, has not before been able to produce a medicine which would with certainty cure this dreadful scourge of mankind. Thousands of victims are at this day labouring under the most excruciating pain, from different and lasting attacks of this most formidable disease.

Doctor Velnos is happy in informing the citizens of the United States of America, that after a laborious study and practice of forty years, he has at length found out a medicine, which will infallibly cure the Rheumatism in every stage; and strongly recommends to all who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with the disease, to give this valuable medicine a trial: being composed of the most innocent vegetables, the young, the old, the aged and infirm may use it with the most perfect safety, and may rely with confidence on a perfect cure, if within the reach of medicine.

Since Doctor Velnos first discovered this very valuable vegetable Ointment, thousands have been cured; many who had not the use of their limbs for many years before.

Dr. Hartman's Worm Cakes.

This is a mild and exceeding good vermifuge, may be given at all times with the greatest safety to the youngest infant, or pregnant women. It is celebrated for an astringent, which strengthens the tone of the stomach and intestines, and hence proves useful in disorders arising from laxity of the fibres, dropsical and bilious complaints or when the bowels are obstructed with slime.

Doran's Chymical Cake,
For removing grease from silk, cotton or woollen goods.
DOCTOR BREE'S TINCTURE.
For Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and approaching Consumptions.

Dr. Velnos' Antipertesis,
For the cure of Hooping Cough.

A medicine justly entitled to universal approbation, having been used with the most flattering success, in all the hospitals and infirmaries of Europe, and recommended highly by the most eminent of the faculty; is perfectly mild in its operation, and may be given to children with the greatest safety.

Stop the Thief.

THE subscriber, on the 29th ult. at the tavern of William Bratton—on the Wheeling road, near Morristown (Ohio) was robbed of the following articles, by one Michael Datton who lately resided in Zanesville, viz.—A blue factory cotton coat, a red scarlet jacket, a pair of brownish cloth overalls, a new fur black hat with an oil cloth on it, an old fashioned English silver watch, two silk handkerchiefs one cross-barred and the other flowered red, yellow and black, a pocket book with $10 in money, and a white neck kerchief with a red border.

Said Michael Datton is supposed to be dressed in some of the above clothing; he is about 5 feet one inch high, with sandy hair.——Any person who will secure said thief so that he may be brought to punishment, shall receive ten dollars reward.

PHILIP DYCUS.

To Owners of Horses.

A NUMBER of the merchants of Philadelphia, desirous of promoting the internal intercourse of the state, and of facilitating their trade and connection with the western states, have united themselves into an association, under the name of "The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company." Their object is to reduce and equalize throughout the year, the cost of carriage, and to diminish the time now required, for the transport of merchandize to the western waters. They therefore purpose to establish Lines of Wagons, to start daily from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to run day and night changing horses every ten miles.

It must be evident to every enlightened person, that the success of the proposed system is most intimately connected with the interests of the whole community. It is important for the interiour of our state, that the trade of the western country should be maintained with the Atlantick cities; to secure which, the plan now contemplated, it is believed, will be effectual. A reduction in the rates, and in the time required for the transportation of Goods, to and from the Atlantick cities to the western waters, will enable the farmers and others to transmit their products to market with facility and cheapness, and procure a supply of foreign articles on more favourable terms. It will also increase the demand for horses, travelling, the value of lands, and in fine, add much to the improvement and importance of the towns and country on the route. Owners of horses, will find constant and profitable employment for them near their homes, which is surely preferable to uncertain employment at a distance.

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED,

For hauling the Wagons any number of sections of ten miles, each section, going and returning, to be performed within every twenty hours, and persons desirous of contracting will state the section or sections they will contract for.

The loading as far as Carlisle, will not exceed 4000 lbs. and from thence to Pittsburgh 3500, or 3200 when the roads are in a bad state.

The following conditions will be required.

1. Each contractor must give satisfactory security for the faithful performance of his contract.
2. Each contract must be for one year.
3. The contractor to be at every expense for his horses and driver, including the harness.
4. The Wagons must travel two miles an hour, changing horses every ten miles without any unnecessary delay.
5. The contractors will be accountable to the Company, for all delays or damages which may arise from fraud or mismanagement upon the road, embraced within their contract.

Turnpike and Bridge Tolls will be paid by the Company.

Application to be made by Letter as early as possible, directed to the Subscriber, agent for the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company in Philadelphia.

To Merchants, Attornies and Others.

WANTS a situation. A young man of good education and who understands book-keeping in a wholesale or retail store, or to superintend any business; would have no objections to engage as clerk to an attorney, having been accustomed to that employment, and would render himself useful to his employer when not actually engaged in writing.——A line addressed to A. B. and left at the Post office, West Liberty, Brooke county, Va. will be respectfully attended to.
